Associate Director of Ekklesia

Ekklesia is an independent, not-for-profit thinktank which examines the role of beliefs, values and religion in public life.

It advocates transformative ideas and solutions rooted in fresh thinking shaped by Christian nonconformism, the quest for social justice, and conversation among those of different convictions (religious and otherwise).

It also looks at political and cultural issues in society more widely, promoting new models of mutual economy, conflict transformation, restorative justice, community transformation and theological reflection. It is known for its alternative approaches to common challenges in a globalised world.
